Grammar Notes

Myttin da	good morning
Dohajydh da	good afternoon
Gorthugher da	good evening
Nos dha/nos da	good night (you will hear both being used)

The verb to be Bos

Lines 3 – 15, 19

Positive statement		Negative statement		interrogative
.. ov (vy)	I am ..	Nyns ov (vy)..	I am not ..	Ov (vy)...?	Am I ...?

.. yw (ev)	He is ..	Nyns yw ev..	He isn't ..	Yw ev ..?	Is he ..?
.. yw (hi)	She is ..	Nyns yw hi..	She isn't ..	Yw hi ..?	Is she ..?

.. yns (i)	They are .	Nyns yns (i)..	They aren't ..	Yns (i) ..?	Are they ..?

The pronouns in brackets may be omitted, but ev and hi are usually used to avoid confusion.

Mutations

Some words change the first letter after certain words in some circumstances!

The unchanged state is found in the dictionary

The soft or second state is given in the table

	b	ch	d	ga	ge	gi	gl	gr	gw	gy	go	gu	gro	gru	k	m	p	t
2 nd	v	j	dh	a	e	i	l	r	w	y	wo	wu	wro	wru	g	v	b	d

The first line shows that words beginning with 'd', like 'da' (good) are found in the dictionary under the letter 'd', but sometimes they change the 'd' to 'dh' as shown in the second line. Or that, for example, words beginning with 'm' sometimes change the 'm' to a 'v'. This is called 'mutation'.

Line 5, 10 good da very good pur dha

The word pur (very) causes the next word to mutate as above

Line 14, 15 weather kewer the weather an gewer

The word an (the) causes a following feminine singular noun to mutate as above. So because 'kewer' is feminine when we put 'an' (the) before it the 'k' changes to a 'g'. This does not happen to 'klass' which is masculine, so 'an klass' (the class).

Gender

Many masculine nouns make the feminine by adding '-es', there is sometimes a vowel change and the stress changes; most words in Cornish have the stress on the penultimate syllable

studhyer studhyores
dyskador dyskadores

Questions like Os ta studhyer? Require yes or no answers

In Cornish we have to repeat the verb, as there are no words for yes and no, and say 'I am' or 'she is not', for example. But remember, that's only the literal meaning – you should think of them as meaning 'yes' and 'no'.

Os ta studhyer?	Ov, studhyer ov (vy)	Yes, I am a student
	Nag ov, nyns ov (vy) studhyer	No, I'm not a student
Yw ev dyskador?	Yw, dyskador yw ev.	Yes, he is a teacher.
	Nag yw, nyns yw ev dyskador	No, he isn't a teacher.

Ha (and) becomes hag when followed by a vowel

Nag (no) is usually na except when followed by a vowel (in the verb bos)

Nyns (not) is usually ny except when followed by a vowel (in the verb bos)

You will have noticed that dyskadores has been translated as 'a teacher' and studhyer has been translated as 'a student' this is because Cornish has no word for the English indefinite article 'a' or 'an' so dyskadores may be translated as 'teacher' or 'a teacher' depending on context.

Exercise A1 Questions on the conversation.

1 Mestresik Marner says to Tomas 'Piw os ta?' What does he reply?

2 Py klass yw hemma?

3 Yw hemma an klass Kernewek?

4 Ple'th yw Estelle trigys?

5 Fatel yw an gewer hedhyw?

6 Yw an gewer drog?

7 Yw Mestresik Marner studhyores?

8 Yw Andi dyskador?

And answer these about yourself

9 Os ta studhyer/studhyores?

10 Os ta dyskador/dyskadores?

Exercise A2

Translate the following (example: Lowena is a student Studhyores yw Lowena)

1 Ann is a teacher

2 Brian is a teacher

3 Charles is a student

4 Dianne is a woman²

5 Edward is a student

6 Faith is a student

7 George is a man¹

8 Benyn yw Helen

9 Flogh³ yw Isaac

10 Studhyoryon yw Jessica ha Keith*

² Woman benyn – an venyn

³ flogh child

* this is good Cornish! (the reason for it will be explained later)

Part B An Gewer

An howl the sun Howlyek yw. It's sunny Tomm yw. It's warm Sygh yw. It's dry	An glaw the rain Yeyn yw. It's cold Glyb yw. It's wet	An kommel the clouds Komolek yw. It's cloudy

An gwyns the wind Gwynsek yw. It's windy	An ergh the snow Erghek yw It's snowy Oor yw. It's bitterly cold	An tewedh the storm Hager-awel yw. It's a gale Euthyk yw. It's horrible

An gammneves the rainbow Teg yw. It's pretty	An niwl the fog Niwlek yw. It's foggy	Ass yw tomm an gewer! How warm the weather is!

To ask what the weather is like we use the word 'fatel', which means 'how'. So 'fatel yw an gewer?' is 'how is the weather?' or 'what is the weather like?'

Exercise B3

Fatel yw an gewer omma? What is the weather like, here?

(PS The weather in the centre looks very mixed. You can decide if it's cold, warm, pretty, horrible or whatever you think!)

Gerva (Vocabulary)

noun	gender	plural	meaning
dyskador	g	dyskatoryon	(male) teacher
dyskadores	b	dyskadoresow	(female) teacher
studhyer	g	studhyoryon	(male) student
studhyores	b	studhyoresow	(female) student
klass	g	klassow	class
kewer	b		weather
gour	g	gwer	man
benyn	b	benenes	woman
maw	g	mebyon	boy
mowes	b	mowysi	girl
flogh	g	flegthes	child
chi	g	chiow	house

g = gorow (masculine)

b = benow (feminine)

Exercise B4

In English we might say ‘the house is bitterly cold’, but in Cornish we usually start with what it is we want to say about something. Here what we want to say about the house (‘an chi’) is that it is bitterly cold (‘oor’), so that’s what we start with – ‘oor yw an chi’.

Translate

- | | |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 The (male) teacher is wet | 6 The weather is hot |
| 2 The student (male) is cold | 7 The house is bitterly cold |
| 3 We are warm | 8 I live in a house in Cornwall. |
| 4 The (female) teacher is good | 9 The class is good |
| 5 They are bad | 10 You are a student. |

Part C Negatives

When we make a negative statement ‘it isn’t’ or ‘I’m not’, for example, we always start with the negative word ‘nyns’ and then the verb. So ‘it isn’t bitterly cold’ is ‘nyns yw oor’. To make the negative question we simply put a in front so ‘Isn’t it bitterly cold?’ is ‘A nyns yw oor?’

Exercise C5

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------------|
| 1 We aren’t good | 6 I am happy |
| 2 He isn’t bad | 7 She is happy. |
| 3 Are you cold? | 8 She isn’t happy |
| 4 Aren’t they warm? | 9 Isn’t she happy? |
| 5 They aren’t happy (lowen). | 10 We aren’t bad! |
